Best Doctors Co-Founder Receives Faculty Prize from Harvard Medical School for Sustained Excellence in Teaching

Dr. Kenneth H. Falchuk Acknowledged for Impact and Influence on the Professional Lives of Students and Future Physicians

Boston, MA– June 20, 2007 – Best Doctors®, Inc., the trusted resource to patients and physicians in delivering the right diagnosis and the right treatment, today announced that its co-founder and co-Chairman, Dr. Kenneth H. Falchuk, was honored with a Special Faculty Prize for Sustained Excellence in Teaching at the 2007 Harvard Medical School (HMS) Teaching Awards Celebration.

Established in 2006 by the HMS Teaching Awards Selection Committees, this award recognizes faculty who, through a lifetime of excellence in teaching, have impacted and influenced the professional lives of students long after graduation. Dr. Falchuk received the HMS Excellence in Teaching Award in 1988.

“Dr. Falchuk’s dedication to excellence in healthcare and passion for teaching is reflected in this award from Harvard,” said David Seligman, CEO of Best Doctors. “We are honored to have Dr. Falchuk as a vital part of our company.”

Dr. Falchuk is professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, an active member of the Department of Medicine at Brigham and Women’s Hospital and is on the affiliate teaching staff of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is also the director of the Center for International Medicine and has recently completed a tenure as director of the core medicine clerkships at Brigham and Women’s Hospital.

Dr. Falchuk is a founder of Best Doctors and has served on the Board of Directors of the company since its inception in 1989.

He currently manages a number of roles, including direct consulting for medical operations, business strategy, and entrepreneurial leadership and vision. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Harvard Medical School.
